The image shows a screenshot of a Windows Mail inbox window. The window has a menu bar with 'File', 'Edit', 'View', 'Tools', 'Message', and 'Help'. Below the menu bar is a toolbar with icons for 'Create Mail', 'Reply', 'Reply All', 'Forward', 'Print', 'Send/Receive', and others. On the left side, there is a 'Local Folders' pane with a tree view showing 'Inbox', 'Outbox', 'Sent Items', 'Deleted Items', 'Drafts', and 'Junk E-mail'. The main area of the window is a large, light purple rectangle with horizontal dotted lines for writing an email. Overlaid on this area is a large, semi-transparent watermark that reads 'SUPER COURSE' in large, bold letters, with 'ELT PUBLISHING' in a smaller box below it. In the bottom right corner of the window, there is a status bar that says 'Working Online'. Three small, tilted photographs are placed on the left side of the email writing area. The top photo shows a stone building with a large, colorful mural of a person's face. The middle photo shows a row of colorful, multi-story buildings with balconies. The bottom photo shows a calm body of water reflecting the surrounding greenery and a small building.
